The Trip Down the Mississippi.

Senator Seward in Iowa--The Reception at Dubuque.

Editorial Correspondence of the Sentinel.

DUBUQUE, Friday, Sept. 21, 1860.

At nine o'clock on Wednesday morning, Gov. SEWARD and his party embarked on board the steamer Alhambra, Captain HOLCOMBE, for the trip down the Mississippi. The steamboat company had designed giving us a larger and faster steamer, so as to ensure our arrival at Dubuque, in season to fulfil Gov. SEWARD's appointment there.—But what with the failure of one or two telegraphic despatches to reach their destination and an accident to the War Eagle, we had no alternative butto take the Alhambra. She is a stern-wheeler, some six years old, of moderate speed and limited accommodations. But all these drawbacks were fully counter-balanced by the kind attentions of Captain HOLCOMBE and his officers, and their evident desire and earnest efforts to make us comfortable. The boat, too, was put up to her best pace and we glided swiftly and pleasantly down the majestic Mississippi; passing by daylight, as we descended, what we had passed in the night time, going up.

At Hastings, at Prescott, at Red Wing and other points the people thronged the landings to greet the New York Senator with their heartiest welcome. They did not seem to tire of doing him honor, or of testifying their devotion to the Republican cause. Of the numerous counties in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, which border on the Mississippi, there are not over three, or four, that will give democratic majorities in November. In all of our travels we have met with no man, of any party, who had any doubt that these three States will cast their electoral votes for LINCOLN and HAMLIN.

Our trip on the Alhambra was marked by one or two rather exciting incidents. The first was a race with the steamer Wenona, of DAVIDSON's St. Paul and La Crosse line.—She started some time after we did, but overtook us just below Winona, and for a little while the race became quite interesting, the boats at one time running side by side, so close to each other that we on the Alhambra shook hands with passengers on the Wenona. Ultimately, the latter, which was less heavily laden than our boat, drew ahead and arrived at La Crosse some ten minutes in advance of us. As we left La Crosse soon after 5 o'clock in the morning, we hoped to reach Dubuque early in the evening; but a misadventure we encountered soon afterwards delayed us nearly two hours. This was a collision with a very large raft in a narrow channel, which resulted in the breaking up of the raft and the grounding of the steamer. The remarks of the raftsmen upon the catastrophe were more forcible than polite. It was a decided case of "tall swearing." The accident was, apparently, unavoidable, and though the steamer escaped injury, she was delayed a long time, much to the disappointment of those who were anxious to get on.

At Prairie du Chien, the "Young America" artillery squad, Captain HARRY BINGHAM, which had kept us company all the way from Madison, and had waked up the slumbering echoes of the Mississippi bluffs with their thunder, took leave of us for home. They gave us a parting salute, and we, in return, gave them a round of hearty cheers. We made rapid progress from the Prairie, and soon after 10 o'clock at night the lights of Dubuque hove in sight. A long and glittering line on the levee, and the loud roar of artillery, told us that the Wide-Awakes were on hand to receive the party and escort them to their quarters.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when he got on shore, but notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, an immense crowd followed us to the Julien House, and were briefly addressed from the balcony, by Gov. SEWARD, Mr. ADAMS, Gen. NYE and Lt. Gov. PATTERSON. It was with visible reluctance that at midnight, the crowd consented to disperse and leave their visitors to seek repose. Thanks to the forethought of the committee of reception and the prompt and assiduous attentions of Mr. HORACE POOLE, (formerly of Milwaukee,) the managing Clerk of the Julien, all the party were soon comfortably cared for.

Our late arrival in Dubuque was the scene of serious disappointment to the good people of that city, and to thousands of earnest Republicans from the adjacent parts of Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. Gov. SEWARD had been expected about noon, Thursday, and by that hour, Dubuque fairly overflowed with visitors. Had the party arrived on time, there would have been an audience of ten thousand people to welcome and listen to them. Even as it was, a very large portion staid until Gov. SEWARD did arrive and took part in the brief ceremonies of the reception.

According to the programme of our friends we were to have left Dubuque for Quincy this morning at half past seven, but the urgent entreaties of the Dubuque people induced a change of plan, and it was decided to remain here till evening.

After a good night's rest and a palatable breakfast, our whole party, in charge of different citizens of Dubuque, drove about the city and a few miles back into the country. All were delighted with the drive. Dubuque itself is very eligibly located, substantially built and, in spite of the three hard years that the West has passed through, shows manifold indications of progress and prosperity. The country back from the river is most fair to see and of unsurpassed fertility; and the view from any one of the lofty bluffs overlooking the business portion of the city, is picturesque in the extreme.

Dubuque is most anxious for that long-promised Railroad connection with Milwaukee, and now that the products of their abundant harvest are pouring into the city by every available means and conveyance, their desire for a direct communication with Milwaukee, the great wheat mart of the Northwest, is more intense than ever. Let us hope that it will soon be in the power of the Milwaukee & Mississippi R. R. Company to provide the long-wished-for and much-needed avenue for transportation and travel between the "Key City" on the Mississippi and our own "fair white city," whose feet are laved by the bright blue waters of Michigan.

A large and enthusiastic meeting is in progress, this afternoon, in the public square of Dubuque; but I must reserve an account of it until my next letter. This evening, our party start for KANSAS, making no stops by the way. Gov. SEWARD will speak at LAWRENCE, and possibly at one other point in the Free State which Mr. DOUGLAS and "Squatter Sovereignty" still keep out of the Union, because she is free. Thence, bending his steps eastward again, he will talk to the people of Illinois, at Chicago, on the 2d of October; when I hope to see a crowd of Milwaukee "Wide-Awakes" and Wisconsin Republicans.

Gen. NYE, who has been quite unwell for two, or three days past, so much so that he did not speak at St. Paul, assures me that, health permitting, he will yet fulfill his promise of visiting the Third Congressional District in our State and helping to redeem it from the clutch of Sham-Democracy.

R. K.

Douglas and Johnson Fizzle at Kilbourn City.

KILBOURN CITY, Sept. 21st., 1860.

DEAR SENTINEL:—There was a grand DOUGLAS and JOHNSON fizzle here yesterday. The DOUGLAS Postmaster, with some of the leading Democrats of this place, have been hard at work for the past two weeks trying to get up a demonstration in favor of the man in search of his mother; and after working hard and getting out glowing hand-bills, announcing that the Honorable CHARLEY LARRABEE was to speak here on the 20th, and that a DOUGLAS and JOHNSON pole was to be raised, succeeded in getting out twenty-two democrats, all told, (this is by actual count.) As the time for speaking arrived, the twenty-two huddled around their pole which had been previously raised, and waited for an hour or so with long drawn faces, and CHARLEY finally appeared and was escorted to the Tanner House, not by the Committee which was appointed for that purpose, for there were none of them that knew the immortal CHARLEY; but by Col. ANDERSON, a staunch Republican. It, however was soon whispered around that CHARLEY had arrived; whereupon there was a proposition made to adjourn to the school house; but here a difficulty arose, and you could hear the few huddled together consulting what to do; some thought they had better meet at some smaller building where they would make a better show, as they could scarcely be seen in the school house, and it was feared that CHARLEY might refuse to speak to them; but the Postmaster assured them that there would Republicans enough attend to make a decent show, whereupon they concluded to go to the school house. And to the schoolhouse they did go, but not in a body, by any means; but in single file through the back alley they wended their way to the place of meeting where Mr. LARRABEE made a few common-place remarks, excusing himself for the lateness of the hour, occupying about fifteen minutes in all. Mr. MUNN, of Portage City, then addressed the meeting using up some three minutes more, when one of the number proposed three cheers for DOUGLAS and JOHNSON, which were given with a hearty good will, in a horn, and so ended the DOUGLAS fizzle.

FARMER.

A CARD.—At a meeting of the gentlemen composing Gov. SEWARD's party, held Saturday evening, the 15th inst., aboard the steamer Milwaukee, Capt. COCHRANE, over which, on motion of Gen. JAMES NYE, of New York, the Hon. M. S. WILKINSON, of Minnesota, was called to preside, and CHAS. F. ADAMS, Jr., of Massachusetts, chosen Secretary. Gov. PATTERSON, of New York, Gen. RUFUS KING, of Milwaukee, and W. HALE, of Minnesota, were appointed a committee to draft and submit resolutions to the meeting.

The committee reported the following resolutions, which being seconded by Gen. NYE in a few eloquent remarks, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That our grateful acknowledgements are due, and we hereby tender them to the Minnesota Packet Company, for the courtesy shown to Governor SEWARD and accompanying friends in placing at our disposal the steamer Milwaukee for the trip from Prairie du Chien to St. Paul.

Resolved, That we desire to return our especial thanks to Capt. Cochrane, officers and subordinates of the steamer Milwaukee, for their well directed efforts to minister to our enjoyment and promote our comfort during our delightful sail on the Upper Mississippi.

Resolved, That we take pleasure in commending the steamer Milwaukee to the traveling public as a safe, fast, commodious and well managed steamer, and her officers as the right men in the right place.

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be printed in the St. Paul and Milwaukee papers, and that copies thereof be transmitted to the President of the Minnesota Packet Company and to Captain Cochrane of the above named boat.

M. S. WILKINSON, Chairman.
CHAS. F. ADAMS, Jr., Secretary.

THE STATE FAIR, which begins on Monday at Madison, promises to be one of the most attractive and successful that has ever been held in this State. Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to receiving and arranging articles. The President's address will be delivered on Wednesday. The plowing match, ladies equestrian display, and grand parade of premium animals will occupy Thursday. On Friday the annual address will be delivered, premiums be awarded, trials of speed in the class of trotting horses be held, and the prize banner be presented, and on Saturday there will be sales at auction of whatever exhibitors may wish to sell.

THE PRUSSIAN PAPERS narrate a pleasing incident which recently occurred at an exhibition of necromancy at Koenigsburg.—During an interval, a gentleman rose in the body of the hall, and, pointing to a lady who sat on another bench, addressed the conjurer as follows: "Her Basch, your next trick, as I see from the show-bill, is to make any person disappear that is pointed out to you. There sits my runaway spouse, with her paramour. Pray make them disappear." The lady turned alternately pale and red, and the couple left amid the roaring laughter of the people.

ATTEMPT TO UPSET A RAILROAD TRAIN.—On Thursday night, when the express train was between Syracuse and Warner's Station, on the N. Y. Central Railroad, the engineer perceived an obstruction on the line before him; in time to reduce his speed so that no accident occurred. Some miscreants had placed two three-inch oak planks in a cattle guard, so that one end of the timbers protruded over the line at the height of the locomtive lamp. The planks were broken by the collision, and thrown by the side of the track.

RAILROAD AGENCIES ABOLISHED.—The recent Convention at the St. Nicholas, in New York, appears to have ratified the first article of the Saratoga compact without a dissenting voice. That article provides for the withdrawal of all passenger and freight agents from points off the road after the 1st of October. Freight agents may be employed at points which have a direct river connection with the roads, as in the case of the Baltimore & Ohio, which road has a river connection from St. Louis, and is therefore entitled to an agent in that city.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—We learn that on Friday night, the 7th inst., three horses, the property of Sam. Warren, Peter James and John Graber, respectively, residing five or six miles from this city, were struck by lightning, two of which were killed outright, and the other badly injured.—Home Intelligencer, Mineral Point, 20th.

Something About Dutton.

"What though on homely fare we dine,
Wear hodden gray and a' that,
Gie fools their silk and knaves their wine;
A man's a man for a' that."

We take the liberty of saying that the above is downright bosh!

BURNS was an uncommon smart fellow no doubt, but "hodden gray and a' that," won't do now-a-days. Corduroy belongs to former ages. People now-a-days must dress. Custom, respectability and "a' that," demand not only the best fabrics, but the best cut and the latest style. And why should it not be so? We no longer live in log houses and ride in stage coaches. Art and industry have made our residences and our conveyances elegant and comfortable. Why shouldn't art do something for our apparel.

To-be-sure! Great artists are always springing up in every department of business—why not in the clothing line, Ergo, DUTTON? Therefore a great handsome store filled with the greatest variety of tempting habiliments that were ever put on a "mortal coil."

DUTTON, so well known to all the well dressed inhabitants, has just opened a winter stock of coats, pants and vests—a wonderful infinity of patterns, a long array of prices, a most tempting "apredation"—a bazaar of elegancies. This establishment ranks among the first in the Western country. The proprietor is a live, wide-awake gentleman, who knows he has a good thing, and therefore isn't afraid to tell of it. He has secured the patronage of a large portion of our merchants and business men, who wear their "go-to-meetin's" every day, and who know "what's what" in clothes, therefore is DUTTON a very distinguished personage, for he adorneth the rich and the poor, and like charity, covereth a multitude of sins,—and a' that.

The Requiem,

In reference to which will be found a correspondence elsewhere, will take place positively on Thursday night next.

THE STATE FAIR.—The building for the reception of the beautiful Steam Ice Car, Lady Franklin, from Prairie du Chien is now progressing. Mr. WIARD will be here on Saturday, bringing the boat and the powerful Steam Calliope that is to accompany it during the exhibition. The great performances one thousand instruments at the Crystal Palace, New York, a few years since, would be entirely drowned in the fullness of a Steam Calliope, that agitates the whole atmosphere with undulations fifteen miles in every direction. The price of admission to this extraordinary exhibition is so low (only ten cents) that we expect to see a turn out of the whole State.

CHANGE OF RAILROAD TIME.—By reference to the Railroad advertisements it will be seen that on and after Sept. 24th, the La Crosse Railroad morning accommodation train will leave at 1:15 A. M., and arrive at 2:15 P. M.

On and after Sunday Sept. 23d, the Milwaukee & Mississippi train will leave at 9 P. M. and arrive at 6:00 P. M.

CALEB WALL comes out this morning with three new advertisements. Sale of furniture on Tuesday, sale of dry-goods on Wednesday, and large book-sale, to commence on Wednesday evening. All sober thinking people would do well to read his advertisements about his book sale. The books are and must be sold, so he says. A great chance to fill up libraries.

CONCERT.—Remember the concert to-morrow evening for the benefit of the Plymouth Mission Church, corner of Astor and Lyon streets. The music is furnished by a number of amateurs, ladies and gentlemen, and will be well worth listening to. The street cars run within two blocks of the Church.

THE BAY STATE foundry and machine shop has floating over it a LINCOLN flag, nine by fifteen feet, with a life size portrait of LINCOLN painted thereon. It is a fine flag and long may it wave.

ALBERT BADE has been appointed Clerk in the office of the Mayor. No doubt he will make an efficient officer.

Young Men's Association.

If this Association does not exhibit the strength, numerically, which it should possess, it shows that which is implied by the interest manifested by those already on its lists. There never has been a time when so many books have been drawn from the library, and an equal degree of solicitude for its prosperity shown, as during the past season.

The erroneous impression seems to have heretofore obtained that ladies were ineligible to membership, but we are glad to observe that they are now contributing their influence to the enterprise, as well as continue to prove themselves competent representatives of the reading proclivities of families. Another gratifying feature is the interest shown in the Association by juvenile members. This is due, perhaps, in part to their newly acquired rights as voters, on which our young friends seem to place a proper estimate. At any rate a goodly accession has been made from the schools, stores and workshops. Boys, instead of frittering away their time in idleness, or in habits tending directly or indirectly to their demoralization, have shown as much eagerness to participate in the entertainment provided at the Rooms, as if the gratification accrued to the physical instead of the intellectual nature. This active participation in benefits though, is rather a measure of the discernment of those already connected, than evidence of an adequate membership, and does not dispense with the necessity of continued efforts to place the Association on a footing beyond the need of appeals, which may be mistaken for addresses to generosity, rather than public spirit for responding to which, an ample equivalent is secured.

Any person observing the animation prevailing at the Rooms of an evening, can scarcely escape the contagion, and—will take a certificate. Young students in search of data for a composition; ladies in quest of something new by the author of "Adam Bede," or of her American namesake, the writer of "Beulah;" clergymen wishing to verify a quotation from some old author; politicians on the lookout for authorities among the Fathers of the Republic; artizans poring over encyclopædias too heavy for private libraries; and persons of taste examining the illustrated and curious works to be found in the collection—this, with the quiet reigning through the Reading Room, is suggestive of enjoyment adapted to every variety of taste and capacity. Fortunately, the financial consideration is the least possible obstacle at the present time to membership (one dollar and seventeen cents during September,) being at the minimum rate, which only occurs twice a year. Should all who contemplate the step, take it at once, a mutual benefit would be realized in an increased fund for library purposes.

What Does it Mean?

MR. EDITOR:—Public attention has often been called to the efforts of Councillor LOCKWOOD to secure the appointment of another investigating committee. He has assured the Council and through that body, the public, that there exists gross frauds and mal-practices in office, which have not yet been brought to light; that men guilty of penal offences daily walk our streets with heads erect and a brazen effrontry that seems to defy all scrutiny into their official conduct. Common rumor is also busy and more than intimates that the half has not been told.

Now why do those entrusted with the management of our city affairs refuse to sanction the investigation? Are they also implicated? or have they friends to serve? or do they shrink from the responsibility? or, "what does it mean?" There is a mystery hanging over this matter—this apathy of the Common Council—which outsiders like myself cannot penetrate.

Either Councillor LOCKWOOD and Madam Rumor are in the wrong and unnecessarily bringing great reproach on our city, as well as on all who have had any hand in our municipal affairs, or the Common Council is guilty of great dereliction of duty. Without farther light on this subject, the public will accept the latter horn of the dilemma. The charges are either true or false. If true, let them be proved, let the guilty suffer the penalty of their misdeeds, and the innocent, if such there are, profit by their example. If they are false, a thorough investigation will demonstrate the fact; it will also relieve faithful public servants from unjust suspicions, rebuke the censorious, silence the tongue of detraction, inspire our citizens with great respect for themselves and more confidence in the ability and integrity of those now in office. Then why blink investigation? Why stifle inquiry? What does it mean?

Reader, do not decry as nuisances these little music-givers that travel about the streets, or wish to bar the gates against the leggar minstrel; they are ministers of delight along the highway of the pilgrim—bright spots in the memory of years to come. Would you, if you could, scatter the flocks of little children that gather at the corners, to hear, mayhap, the only music of their lives? Would you hush the soft, tinkling sounds that come up to your window, thro' the heavy tramp and turmoil of busy life, whispering, if you will but listen aright, of an inner, purer life, of "rest for the weary" in yonder bright world? Kind Reader, of delicate and cultivated ears, whose being even now thrills with the vibrations of a JULIEN's orchestra, or who listens enraptured to MOZART's noble requiem, scorn not these simple offsprings, but let love for the human race smooth over the harsher tones, and interlude softer variations; so that it shall seem soul-music from beautiful souls.

Music is Heaven-born; and the love of it is planted by the Creator in every human breast, which develops with the expanding being, unless the spirit-nature is debased, dragged down, rather than beckoned upward. The child of Fortune may bow at costly and lovely shrines—may drink at the purest fountain; but the lowly, lost to their beautiful birth-right, living apart from all that is uplifting—to the doors of such as well—wander these wayside melodies, rescuing for a few moments the little ones from scenes of misery and vice,—changing the atmosphere of brawling homes for the softening influences of "Gentle Annie" and "Katy Darling"—binding for an instant the broken, fluttering little heart, and dropping down into the drooping spirit one faint ray of light and hope, which may grow and burst into a glorious future.

To the child reared amid the fresh, healthy outbursts of Nature—music—beauty and truth are pictured upon every object and singing in every note; but the city child, at best an undeveloped or overdeveloped specimen of childhood, as often grants but the dwarfed and mocking semblance of the pure and true; while, alas, for the neglected one, poor little worse than waif—dropped down in the scale of culture, till its vision meets only deformity at every turn. He loves the bird-song of the pretty captive in his cage, trained to blasphemy—martial music—so fine is necessarily associated in the mind of the little lookers on—indeed, is lost among marching plumes, blazing torches, and drunken soldiery. All, all the stars and flowers of earth from him are hidden, or twinkle lustreless. To these unnatural children, these little pilgrims on the great desert of life, stray foddless lambs—come the simple organist with his simple strains, speaking softly, silently and with deeper truth, than grandest symphony from cathedral arches. They will not, criticise the rattling, grinding measure, for 'tis all music to their untrained ears, sweeter in comparison, perhaps, than anything we ever heard in our lives. To such as these, and for this, shall we not welcome every tuneful note, every soothing tone which may lift a soul one step higher, nearer the Throne.

CLARE.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 22, 1860.

MR. EDITOR:—Many friends have asked me why I did not report their Sunday School in the convention held in our city this week. I wish to say I did not know that I was expected to report any school, until just before the President called "for reports from Milwaukee." There are about fifty Sunday Schools in our city, and, while I am familiar with the statistics of many of them, there are some of which I know nothing. The time allowed each person to make his report was "from five to eight minutes." I mentioned a few of such schools as presented themselves to my mind, and sat down when my allotted time had expired. I regret I had not sufficient time to have reported the statistics of all the schools, which, even at the short notice I had, occurred to me; but my greatest regret is, that each school had not a delegate present to report for themselves. In the report, however, published in the SENTINEL, your printer made a mistake in the figures reported for the Spring Street Methodist school; I gave an average attendance of 150, not 100, as printed.

Yours, &c.,
JOS. HAMILTON.

A PROTEST FROM WHEAT-BUYERS—CAUTION TO PRODUCE DEALERS AND COMMISSION MEN GENERALLY.—It is the custom for our Produce and Commission men to engage their buyers by the bushel, and we are credibly informed that the case we now publish, occurred yesterday on the streets. A certain buyer, who is paid by the bushel, gave 65 cents for barley, which had been generally refused by honest buyers at 60 cents, all the farmer himself asked for it.—The same thing occurred with the same buyer, on a lot of wheat, which stood at 92 cents, for which this wild man of the woods jumped $1,00, for no other purpose in the world but to secure himself his paltry cent a bushel; thus defrauding his employer in one case of 5 cents per bushel on barley, and in the other of 6 cents per bushel on wheat. How necessary, therefore, for the employers of such men to be cautious.

AN INTERESTING DOCUMENT.

Highly Inflammatory Disunion Letter of Gov. Johnson—The Douglas Candidate for the Vice-Presidency Denounces "Our Northern Oppressors," and Ridicules their "Senseless Clamor of Union"—Proclaims the Right of Secession the Only Hope of the South and declares that those who deny it, as Douglas does, Fatally Blistered.

The announcement, by Mr. Douglas, at Petersburg and Norfolk, that he would treat those who attempt to dissolve the Union on account of the election of Lincoln, as Jackson treated the nullifiers in 1832, has induced some of the Georgia newspapers to republish the following letter, addressed by the Hon. Herschel V. Johnson, the candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the Douglas ticket, to a committee of gentlemen of Augusta, Georgia, in the year 1851. It will be seen that Gov. Johnson handles without gloves those who, like Mr. Douglas, maintain that the right of secession is merely a right of revolution:

LETTER FROM GOV. JOHNSON.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30, '51.

GENTLEMEN.—I thank you for your kind and pressing invitation to a barbecue, to be given to Col. Robert McMillen, the Southern Rights candidate for Congress in the Eighth District, on the first Tuesday in September next. But official engagements forbid me the pleasure of its acceptance. Morgan Co. court will be in session at that time.

My personal acquaintance with Col. McMillen, is limited, but I know him by reputation as a gentlemen of high moral worth, brilliant talents, and sound republican principles. Such men I am pleased to honor, and sincerely trust the great cause whose banner he bears by the united voice of the Southern Rights party of his district may be triumphant.

The contest in which [illegible] the people of Georgia, in common [illegible] with her sister slaveholding States, are engaged, is one of vital importance. It involves the destiny of the South, and the federative character of our system of government. It is waged upon the right of a State peaceably to secede from the Union. The Gulf ... torial candidate of the Southern Rights ... early maintains the affirmative, and the ... candidate of the submission party the negative of this great question. The one, that the right necessarily results from the reserved sovereignty of the States and the nature of the confederacy, and the other that it exists only as a right of revolution.

The former insists that the general government has no right to coerce a seceding State; and the latter that such seceding State must depend for the maintenance of its position upon the stout hearts and strong arms of a free people." The one unhesitatingly and boldly avows that if a Southern State were to secede, he would not obey a requisition by the federal government made upon him as the executive of Georgia, for troops to force her back into the Union; and the other declares he "would convene the Legislature of the State, and recommend them to call a convention of the people" to instruct him in an emergency in which the impulses of the true Southern heart should be a sufficient guide. The great issue, then, I repeat, is the right of a State to secede from the Union, and the correlative absence of any right, on the part of the federal government to force such a State back into the Union. It cannot be evaded by THE SENSELESS CLAMOR OF UNION! THIS GLORIOUS UNION! The integrity of the Union is not assailed by the Southern Rights party in Georgia. Its true friends are those who insist upon maintaining the rights resulting from the sovereignty of the States. Its real enemies are those who from behind it, as a "masked battery," level their destructive artillery against its strongest outposts, by counselling submission to aggression, INJUSTICE, and ROBBERY because, LIKE "A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING," they come under the HYPOCRITICAL GARB OF COMPROMISE. Then let a vigilant people look well to the true and only issue involved in the pending campaign—the right of a State peaceably to secede from the Union.

I would not, if time and space justified, enter into an argument in favor of the affirmative of this issue. I believe it is understood by the people. It has been a cardinal tenet of the Republican creed from 1798 down to the present day, maintained by Jefferson and Madison and Macon, Lowndes and Troup, and all distinguished statesmen of that school, who properly understood the theory of our Government, and whose heart beat responsively to the great American sentiment which is at once the parent and soul of the Constitutional liberty. Argument is not needed to elucidate or enforce it. If the people, shaking off the trammels of party, and spurning THE TIMID COUNSELS OF TEMPORISING SUBMISSIONISTS AND SELFISH TRADESMEN IN THE GREAT MART OF POLITICAL BARTERING will obey the HONEST IMPULSES OF TRUE SOUTHERN SENTIMENT, they will require no argument to array them on the side of truth, THEIR HEARTH-STONES AND THE CONSTITUTION.

To detract from the importance of the issue in public estimation, it is insisted that it is a mere abstraction—that it will be time enough for Georgia to determine it, when she shall be called upon the right of secession. This is but one of the hundred subterfuges of those who man the "masked battery." The issue is vital. It has not been made by the State of Georgia, nor by the Southern States. It has been forced upon us by Federal aggressions. It has been distinctly tendered by high authority. It was tendered by Henry Clay in his great speech upon the "compromise bills." He said, "if resistance is attempted by any State, or by the people of any State, he will lift his voice, his heart and his arm in the support of the common authority of this government."

Through Mr. Webster, the Secretary of State, it has been tendered by the ROTTEN DYNASTY OF THE FILLMORE ADMINISTATION. For he has distinctly proclaimed the policy of the Cabinet to be coercion, if any State should attempt secession. This issue, then, is upon us. Shall we not meet it? Shall we ingloriously shrink from its decisions? It is true, that to past aggressions, Georgia has determined to offer no resistance. But the right to resist and to resist peaceably, without the terror of Federal bayonets, she cannot yield; and now she is called upon to make her decision. Let her meet it with firmness and unanimity.

Whoever observes the signs of the times cannot fail to see that the RIGHT OF SECESSION will probably at NO DISTANT DAY, ASSUME THE FORM AND MAGNITUDE OF PRACTICAL IMPORTANCE. The South is in a permanent minority in our Federal Legislature. The tone of Northern fanaticism abates not in its frenzy and insolence. It presses on rapidly to the consummation of its diabolical designs. And what check has the South upon its progress? Have we any under the established rules of parliamentary law? Can we expect any justice at the hands of the present Free Soil Executive and his Cabinet? Can we effect anything by argument and appeals to the reason of our NORTHERN OPPRESSORS? CAN WE OBTAIN SHELTER UNDER THE BROAD SHIELD OF THE CONSTITUTION?—NO! All these are impotent as packthread to restrain an IRRESPONSIBLE AND FANATICAL MAJORITY. What, then, are we to do? I say, let us bear to the last point of endurance, but let us never proclaim, thro' the ballot box, that we HAVE NO RIGHT TO SECEDE, and that if we do secede we are to be regarded as INSURGENTS AND REVOLUTIONISTS. It never, never can be true, that our forefathers, in the struggle of '76, fought only to achieve that which is the right of serfs—THE RIGHT OF REVOLUTION. They had that under the British crown.—But they struggled for more—for colonial sovereignty—and they won it.

Did they turn around immediately and surrender all they had battled for into the power of an elective consolidation? Never, never. Those who maintain such a position, falsify all the history of our Revolution, and bring dishonor upon the master spirits of its thrilling and eventful scenes. The right of secession must be maintained. It is the last, the only hope of the South. Let us maintain it with unanimity, and we can hold in check the spirit of abolition and consolidation.—But if we yield it the whole theory of our federative system is changed, and we are in the power of those whose mercy is like that of the wolf to the lamb. If we yield it we not only proclaim in advance, that we will submit to usurpation and aggression, but we do worse, we admit that we have no right to resist. AND THAT IS POLITICAL VASSALAGE. With sentiments of high regard, I am, gentlemen, your obd't serv't,

HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON.

To Messrs. Robt. A. White, Turner Clanton, T. W. Fleming, Committee.

POLITICAL DOGGEREL.—The Prairie du Chien Courier publishes a poem on the Wide-Awakes, which, for satire and something burlesque, as well as poetic sweetness and rythmetical beauty, must be considered as the best effort of the campaign. We can give only one verse:

You need not tremble, and don't be afraid;
But why they are called such names I cannot tell,
(A rose by any other name would smell as well;)
They go for Lincoln who some rails did split,
And call him 'honest,' as he never stole a bit
That could be proved—in fact, was very sly
When camphene selling for genuine Old Rye.
To honor him this scare-crow throng appears,
So 'tis quite useless to have any fears.'

THE STATE REFORM SCHOOL.—This institution is constantly receiving additional inmates. Dr. BARRETT has now a family of twenty-one delinquents under correction.—Miss DIX, in her recent visit to the institution, expressed herself highly pleased with its appearance, general arrangement, and the mode of discipline pursued.

WORTH NOTING.—The municipal election in New Haven, carried by the Republicans last Friday, by 200 majority against the DOUGLAS and BRECKINRIDGE men united, was carried last year by the Democrats by 100 majority—a Republican gain of 300.

FEMALE CRUELTY.—The woman Mary Allen, who was brought up the other day before Mr. Burchard on the charge of having treated a wretched child with most inhuman cruelty, was tried yesterday before the Central Criminal Court. She was a school-mistress in Southwark; and had adopted this child, who was the daughter of a laborer in the service of Messrs. Barclay & Co. She had beaten her with a cane and a stick until the miserable little creature was one mass of bruises and clotted blood. She had burnt her with a flat iron. She had compelled her to swallow human excrement. The truth of these facts was proved only by the evidence of the child herself, but her testimony was corroborated in all material particulars by that of the independent witnesses. When called upon for her defence, this abominable woman admitted the truth of the facts charged, but endeavored to excuse herself on the ground that she had only treated the child in such a manner in order to correct her of various faults and propensities. The jury instantly found her "Guilty" of the charge. Mr. Justice Williams, who presided at the trial, very naturally said "that his experience he did not remember in all where one human being [illegible] mber any case acted with so much [illegible] appeared to have appeared to [illegible] cruelty to another as she child." He [illegible] ave acted towards this poor [illegible] sentenced her accordingly to the [illegible] ghest penalty of which the law would admit,—three years of imprisonment, with hard labor. It is curious enough, and more lamentable than curious, that the very same report contains an account of another female fiend, who acted in a manner almost equally cruel to her own child.—London Times, August 16th.

THE DEAD OF THE DELAVAN RAILROAD CATASTROPHE.—The Delavan Journal says that the correct report of the dead was as follows: Mrs. Davis, of South Grove; Mr. Baker, of Delavan; Miss Seaman, of Delavan, son of Mr. Catlin, Darien; Geo. Stoopfell, Sharon.

We are pained to announce that, in addition to the above, Mr. William Zuill, of Johnstown, in this county, died this morning of injuries received at the railroad accident. The loss of Mr. Zuill is universally regretted. He was a very enterprising farmer and a public spirited man, devotedly attached to his calling. He was a large stock raiser, and a liberal promoter of all movements for the improvement of agriculture. His absence was frequently spoken of at our county fair, and much sorrow was expressed by his brother farmers who had been in the habit of meeting him here, for the loss they had sustained by his untimely death.—Janesville Gazette, 20th.

LINCOLN AHEAD OF DOUGLAS AT DOUGLAS MEETINGS.—We do not put as much stress upon the cars as some folks do, but here are some facts furnished us by one of our prominent merchants, just returned from New York, that are highly significant: Vote on the extra train returning from the Douglas reception at Syracuse—Lincoln 455, Douglas 266, Breckinridge 123. This was after hearing Douglas. We now append the vote on the special train going to Rochester to hear Mr. Douglas: Lincoln 266, Douglas 184, Breckinridge 42. Mr. Douglas and his friends had better not deceive themselves about these big meetings he has.—Detroit Tribune.

A DISPACH FROM WASHINGTON recently informed the people that a new planet was discovered at the National observatory on last Saturday night. The right ascension and declination are given, but no further particulars. We are not told by whom the planet was seen, what it was doing at the observatory, or whether it is supposed to be intra or extra mercurial. If a discovery, equal to that of Le Verrier and Lescarbault's has been made by our Washington SAVANS, it is surely worthy of being heralded in a more precise and notable manner.

THE DIFFERENCE.—Johnson, the Democratic candidate for Vice President says, that capital should own labor. Hamlin, the Republican candidate for the same office, thinks that the laborers should own capital.

The Crops.

From the New York Tribune.

It may serve the purposes of grain speculators to announce an improvement in the crop prospects of Great Britain, but it is our province to record the opinions of unbiased authorities, in whose word we may have confidence. If we are not greatly mistaken, the crisis has been passed already, and no temporary glimmers of sunshine will authorize us to expect anything like a full average crop. The Mark Lane Express, just received, is full to overflow with gloomy reports from the several counties, and with despondent letters from farmers, while its market and leading articles are of a truly somber hue. One old farmer writes that there have been only two such harvests as this within his recollection; those of 1800 and 1816, when wheat rose to over six dollars per bushel, and flour to as much per sack. He prophecies that a large proportion of the English grain will be in the field until November, in what condition and exposed to what dangers he leaves farmers to guess. He estimates that they will need to import eighty to one hundred millions of bushels to meet the consumption, and place them in stock to prepare for other contingencies which should be provided against. In their time of difficulty and distress the people are preparing for a day of fasting and prayer, in the vain hope of thus obtaining a mitigation of the calamity.

The Mark Lane Express quotes one of our crop articles at length, and makes the following editorial comments upon it and the week's prospects:

"The harvest prospects only become yet more serious and discouraging the nearer we approach to what should be so joyous a season. There has been another wet week, and we write on the third Saturday in succession under the dispiriting influence of a regular rainy day. There has scarcely been a gleam of sunshine, and the corn for the last fortnight has no appearance of having ripened in any degree whatever. Still some has already been cut; but this in many cases has been more to stay the spread of disease than from the ear being really ready for the sickle. A crop gathered in such condition will of course require a deal of time to make and harden, either in the rick or barn; and however late harvest may be, anything like a general return of new wheat in the market will be later still. The yield, moreover, is now in almost every direction anticipated to be indifferent, while the sample, even with the most careful housing, can scarcely turn out well. Such a combination of circumstances must tell against those who cannot afford to wait, and we fear that many small farmers will be placed for some time to come in a very trying position. Our report from different parts of the country only go the more and more to confirm the unfavorable impression we have for some time past continued to gather. There is, too, hardly a local journal we open but which has something like a positive despair of the harvest.

Even such as still live in hope, wrote before the experience of the last two days; and these two in and about town have been with the glass pointing to the palpable fact of much rain. In a season almost if not altogether almost unprecedented for the continuance of unpropitious weather; and the absolute injury already effected, it is extraordinary to remark the common tone of the country. Dispirited as the people may be, there is as yet nothing like alarm apparent. The country markets yet note but little change; while Mark Lane, though for some time gradually advancing, has made nothing like that leap which many people have so long been prepared for. But to-day's market does at last show sign of the unseasonable influence, and a rise of 4s a quarter is recorded on wheat, and £3 per ton on potatoes.—Had the morning opened less favorably, there is little question but this advance would have been yet greater. Still, the comparative quiet, here, and the ready supply flowing in, would go to argue that we have yet more wheat in store than was imagined. It would however, be idle to assume that we rest upon any such prop as this. England has long ceased to think of any such self-dependence and the reports of her own prospects are now read with hardly more interest and attention than those of other kingdoms. It is so that we must solve the enigma as to the state of the market and the continued confidence of the country.—There is a comparison to be drawn between the broken promise here and that held out to us elsewhere.

We are enabled to offer the material for such a review in our paper of to-day. Almost side by side with each other stand the facts and opinions of our recognized authorities, both in England America. The contrast is striking enough. Proportionately as the look-out of one is bad is the other good. It is rarely there has been so generally unfavorable a return in England, and as seldom a better one in America. We turn on from one State and statement to another, with the same gratifying and welcome intelligence. This is of as late a date as August 6 and 7, and it nearly all echoes the abundance and the opportunity for the ingathering. "England can get all, and more than all, she wants from the United States—if she has a very short crop, we have a very large one—average prices will rule;" while a duly appointed Commission in Wisconsin writes, "that, without exception, the crops were better in quality than was anticipated, and the quantity of the area perfectly astonishing." There is to be a third more than the crop of 1859, and a fifth more than in either 1858 or 1857. There must be many millions of quarters to spare, and all ready for shipment to England so soon as we only announce that we require them. Such a declaration, however, would seem to be already pretty freely accepted, as a rumor of some regrets goes to say that corn for this country has been lately bought in America at a higher rate than that it is now selling for on Mark Lane. In any case, whatever may be the actual result, an all-wise Providence directs us at once to the remedy for any evil which may afflict us, and inculcates at the same time the blessings of peace, and how one man should learn to aid his brother. A bad harvest in England, and a bountiful one in America, must be attended with commercial relations that will conduce much to the mutual convenience and advantage of either. The returns we are enabled to offer on the prospects in France are generally more favorable than we have hitherto been led to anticipate. But these are accompanied by the suggestive commentary of the Emperor himself, who has just opened the ports to his people. Within thirty miles of London the barley is as green as grass, and in almost every direction the wheats are [illegible] more laid, with the plowed [illegible] coming through. A few days more of [illegible] such weather as we have had for the [illegible] last month would now threaten a famine [illegible] ual increase of disease; and with this dread before them, some few have been hurried into making a beginning."

The market article, in a more commercial analysis draws the picture thus:

"The past week opened somewhat more favorably, and for two days with a little sunshine. This served to advance the crops as well as to give occasional opportunities for farmers to proceed with the carrying of their hay. The renewal of heavy rains at a very critical period has placed the harvest in extreme jeopardy, and already done considerable damage to Wheat, Barley and Peas.—But little Wheat was cut before the rain and this is now exposed with other grain. Under such calamitous circumstances, not only is the agricultural interest threatened with seriously heavy losses, but a national calamity is imminent, unless a wise Providence speedily interpose. The early country markets were very little affected; but later in the week prices were fully 2s per qr. higher for Wheat; while the town millers, through sheer necessity, have found it necessary to protect themselves by so extraordinary an advance as 6s per sack on flour.

The northern parts of France and Europe having also experienced the same unfavorable weather, almost every market in these countries has risen; and, without some general change, not only England, but half Europe will be threatened in its vital interests.—The vigilant government of France has already issued a decree for the nation's benefit, authorizing the import of grain and flour at the minimum duty up to the 15th of September, 1861. This is about 2d. per quarter, or two-thirds of the duty payable here. Such a measure, while it goes to secure France, somewhat abates the security of Great Britain. What, then, are our stocks or resources? becomes a most important question; especially as potatoes are everywhere failing fast, and the absence of official information prevents a more satisfactory solution. We have but to remark that, with a defective crop of wheat last year, we have gone on in the way of imports, taking the cereal year as closed on the 31st of July last, at a rate of about 25 per cent. less than during the three years preceding. The real figures in wheat and flour thus show a deficiency of 1,205,338 qrs. for the last year. Now, the moderate surplus of the previous year of plenty being nearly consumed, as well as nearly all the stocks of old corn throughout the continent, we may yet be mainly dependent on the surplus of this year's crops, as received from foreign shores."

How the interest of our Western country is hanging upon the verification of these prophesies! If it should actually result that "not only England but the half of Europe will be threatened in its vital interests," what an effect it must produce upon Western farming, Western trade, Western railroads, and Western settlement! With bread at famine prices abroad an European war imminent, and taxes becoming insufferably onerous, how must our fertile Western farms be invested with the charms of an Arcadia in the eyes of the poorer classes of Europe. Our lands, to be had in fee for a few dollars per acre, our facilities for transporting produce to market, our merely nominal taxation, and our absolute political and religious freedom, must be appreciated this year abroad as they never were before. How much, then, we repeat, depends upon the tidings of the crops in Europe at the pr-sent juncture!

The drouth in Kansas, we are confident, has been exaggerated in our columns, and we have accumulated a mass of testimony within the past month, which we purpose to lay in brief before our readers before long. The veracity of our correspondent "C. H. S." has been so assailed by interested speculators and farmers of limited experience of travel, that we deem it proper to present the true state of the case, as it seems to us.

A correspondent at Madison, Wisconsin, speaking of the crops of that State, and particulary of Dane County, says:

"The marvelous accounts of the yield per acre are in the main true; and, although my wheat crop did not look nearly so promising as that of some of my neighbors, was beaten down by a heavy storm some two weeks before harvesting, and wasted much in gathering, yet I thrashed and cleaned 37 bushels of Canada Club wheat to the acre. This was on new oak openings, and you are undoubtedly aware that Club does not yield so well as the Rio Grande Fife, Rice or California wheat, the other kinds grown here. I have the testimony of my neighbors to their crops of 47, 57, and, in one case, 60 bushels to the acre. Comparing my field with theirs, I am inclined to believe their statements. And the whole State is blessed with the same magnificent yield. Oats and corn are equally good; in fact, the corn crop is the finest I have seen during a seven years' residence in the State, and is now safe from frost, and probably one-third cut and shocked. The weather at this date is promising due, and the coming week will place it out of harm's way. Potatoes are a good yield; in short, everything has done remarkably well."

"I will state that a German farmer near Sauk City, in this State, owned a farm of 160 acres, valued at $1,600. This year he has 3,500 bushels of wheat, valued in this market to-day at 80 cents per bushel, or $2,800. Besides this he has raised $900 worth of oats, corn, potatoes and pork, beside his living; and, owing to the fine harvest weather, he has done most of his farm work with the aid of his boys. Now, this man has raised this season $3,700 worth of produce, on a high, hilly, stumpy piece of 'oak opening,' and an inferior quality of land. And yet had his farm been encumbered for twice its value, $3,200,, he would have been enabled to have paid it all off this autumn, and had a handsome sum remaining. I do not estimate his labor, or the rains of his seed in a calculation of this kind, for he might have owed the $3,200, and still managed to hold a yoke of oxen, a few bushels of wheat, and an old plow—all that was necessary. Anyhow, the surplus $500 more than covers all these. These are facts, Mr. Tribune, and it is but just that our great advantages should be know, and I know you are the last person in the world to wish to keep them from view."

We commend this example of Western farm experience to the attention of our foreign contemporaries. We think it would be no easy matter for them to adduce a case of a small farmer paying the whole cost of his farm and improvements from a single crop.

An intelligent gentleman, writing from St. Joseph, Missouri, after a tour through several of the Western States, tells us that in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, the wonderful yield of the crops has "—Astonished every one, especially those who have considered 20 and 25 bushels of wheat per acre an extraordinary crop. Iowa and Minnesota will have a very large surplus of the best quality of spring wheat, and Minnesota may be set down as one of the very best wheat growing states in the Union. The lesson for the past two years has taught the new States an invaluable lesson—frugality, and the profitableness of their lands, when farmed, more valuable than town lots. The corn looks well, but the frost may yet nip it, as much of it is quite green. Missouri, so prosperous while the others were stricken, now lacks the encouraging influences of a good crop. A gentleman who has lived over thirty years in Western Missouri, says that he does not remember such a season of drouth, the small grain is a failure, and no corn scarcely upon the high uplands and but one-half crop in the bottoms."

GRAND CHANCE TO SECURE A HOME upon such terms that any one who has any industry can do it. Mr. Gilddin, who owns nearly half of Gilddin's Addition, has made me his agent, to sell all lots in said Addition, at unusually low prices, to any one who will improve them, and upon such terms that any one can meet the payments. It is unnecessary to go into argument to convince one who has any judgment, that this property, which is situated in the First Ward, must, and will be the most desirable residence property in the city of Milwaukee. It is in full view of the lake and on high ground, which overlooks the city, and a more healthy situation cannot be found. It is within a few minutes' very easy walk, via the Horse Railroad passing through it every fifteen or twenty minutes. Much more could be said about this valuable property, but we will only say, any persons who have any desire to purchase any of said Lots, if they will call at my office they can see a map, and I will go with them and show them the Lots, and they can judge for themselves. The terms on which said Lots will be sold are as follows: One cash payment, twelve months; 25 per cent. in two years; and 25 per cent. every year thereafter until the whole is paid, with interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, interest not to commence until six months after the date of purchase. Here is a chance never before offered, and there is every reason to believe that this property will advance 100 per cent. in less than twelve months. The great advantage of the Horse Railroad must, and will make it very desirable. The Lots are free from all encumbrances whatever. Certificate of title will be furnished to any one who may purchase.

WHO IS DEAD?

VILLAGE AND CITY.

BY JOHN A. WILLIS.

VILLAGE.

Tolling solemnly, and slow,
Swings the little village bell,
While the passer-by,
Saddened by the knell:
Saddens'd as he passeth by—
Praying for the spirit fled—
While he murmureth, with a sigh,
"Who is dead?"

Treading solemnly, and slow,
Comes the little village throng,
Who, with pastor at their head,
Bear the corpse along:
Whilst the children cease their play—
Drawing nearer, pale in dread—
Wond'ring as it passeth onward,
"Who is dead?"

And the busy workmen cease—
Gathering, now, the windows round—
Whilst their upraised hammers all
Fall without a sound!
"'Tis the coffin of a child—
God, rest his little head!
God, preserve our little ones!"
"Who is dead?"

Broken is the number, now,
All had learned to think complete!
One familiar face is gone,
Now, from church and street!
And the busy query runs,
Till, before the sign is aped,
E'en the smallest child can tell you,
"Who is dead."

CITY.

Tolling solemnly, and slow,
Swings the city's solemn bell,
But the passer hurrieth by,
Heeding, hearing not the knell—
Heedless, hearing not the knell—
To some busy purpose wed—
Never finding time to ask,
"Who is dead?"

Now, with hearse and nodding plume,
And long cavort to the grave,
Death comes rattling down the street—
Life goes up the busy pave!
Careless Jew—Professing Christian—
No one in the throng has said,
As the long procession pass'd them,
"Who is dead?"

Labor hath no time to lose—
Noisy wheels still whirl away—
Death's a common thing, which goes
By the windows every day!
From the thronged and busy pavements,
No familiar face is fled—
Not one, even in a thousand,
Knows who's dead!

Rufus, who was the son of William the Conqueror, who was the bastard son of the Duke of Normandy, by a tanner's daughter of Falaise.

STARTLING DISCOVERY.—During the sitting of a Court in Connecticut, not long ago on a very cold evening, a crowd of lawyers had collected around the open fire that blazed cheerfully on the hearth in the bar-room, when a traveller entered, benumbed with cold; but no one moved to give him room to warm his shins, so he leaned against the wall in the back part of the room.

Presently a smart young limb of the law addressed him, and the following dialogue took place:

"You look like a traveller."

"Waal, I suppose I am; I come all the way from Wisconsin afoot, at any rate."

"From Wisconsin! What a distance to come on a pair of legs!"

"Waal, I done it, anyhow."

"Did you ever pass through hell in any of your travels?"

"Yes, sir; I've been through the outskirts."

"I thought likely. Well, what are the manners and customs there? Some of us would like to know."

"O, you'll find them much the same as in this place—the lawyers sit nearest the fire."

SOYER'S SULTANA'S SAUCE.
For Hot and Cold Dishes of all Kinds.

THIS DELICIOUS and appetising Sauce, invented by the renowned "SOYER," for the London Reform Club, is, since its decease, manufactured by Mrs. Soyer, widow of the late firm of CROSSE & BLACKWELL, London, from the original recipe in the famous sauce in Portman and on the Continent, gives a high and growing reputation. Sultana Sauce is, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not find it to be a business so profitable while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

Opinions of the London Press.

"We recommend our correspondent to try MONS, SOYER'S new sauce, called the Sultana's Sauce. It is made after the Turkish recipe at its flavor is excellent, and it affords considerable aid to cases of poverty and weak digestion."—Morning Herald.

"Savory, Piquant and Spicy, worthy the genius of Soyer."—Observer.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Destructive Fires at N. Orleans—Loss of Life.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22—9 P. M.

Messrs. Karstendeck & Co.'s, and other liquor stores, on Tieposoulas street, between Lafayette and Girard streets, were burned last night. The fourth story of Karstendeck & Co.'s building was heavily loaded with spirits, which exploded, causing the building at the corner of Tieposoulas and Lafayette streets to fall, burying from forty to fifty persons in the ruins. Up to this time (8 P. M.) fifteen dead bodies, and several wounded, have been extricated.

The loss will reach $150,000 but is mostly insured.

A well-built square, in the 4th district, was burned this morning. Loss between $75,000 and $80,000. Mostly insured.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—9 P. M.

The Express says: It is understood that Wm. G. Lane & Co. one of the leading dry-goods houses of the city, have asked an extention of a year, from their creditors. The house owes $1,250,000, with a surplus of over $1,00,000, which cannot be readily realized in the present condition of the southern trade. The house also asks a loan of $20,000 of its creditors, with which it feels able to proceed as usual.

The steamers Illinois and City of Washington, took about $462,000 in specie.

The steamer Bienville arrived from Havana with dates up to 18th, none of which are important.

Movements of the Prince.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22d—9 P. M.

Lord Renfrew and suite arrived at Dwight Station at 6 o'clock this evening. Renfrew is guest of J. C. Spencer, at whose residence he will remain over Sunday. Mr. Spencer's accommodations not being sufficiently ample for the entire royal party, the others are the guests of Mr. Roadight and Mr. R. P. Morgan.

Douglas at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22d—9 P. M.

The Douglas men here express themselves highly gratified with the demonstration.—Douglas spoke to a large crowd to-day, attendance from country large. Enthusiasm great. Douglas remains here till Monday; he goes next to Tiffin, Ohio.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22—9 P. M.

Before the adjournment of the Breckinridge Convention, yesterday, a resolution was offered, but not acted upon, requiring the Electors to vote for any one else.

The Late Disaster.

We were mistaken yesterday in our statement in regard to the further employment of the tug McQueen in the search for the bodies lost from the Lady Elgin, as she made that last trip on Thursday without success. The bodies stated to have been brot in by the McQueen on Thursday, all came from Evanston, and as in two days' search only one body was found, it was deemed unnecessary to run her longer. No bodies were found at all yesterday, and indeed we doubt if any more will be found, as the bodies not recovered have now probably become so far decomposed as to render it improbable that they will be longer found on the surface of the water. It is a sad thought that the bodies must lie in that cold resting place, with no stone to mark the spot, where no tear can be dropped, or no loving hand place a flower over the remains of father, mother, sister, brother, or friend—and thought to the living, though the dead rest as quietly as if the last rites had been performed, and affection's tear had been dropped upon the coffin on the earth closed about the cold remains.

But it must be so. Everything that duty or humanity could suggest has been done in the matter, and the work is now about ended. Coroner Jones and his jury have been indefatigable in their investigations into the cause of the disaster, and in the prosecution of the search for the recovery of the bodies—the whole number of the recovered being now about one hundred and sixty—and to-day we believe closes their labors. They have concluded a verdict, which to-day will be made public, and the result of their investigations into the causes which have led to so fearful a sacrifice of human life will be set before the world. And at this time we cannot refrain from saying that it might have been better had the many harsh opinions expressed by those who as yet have had but little chance to judge of the case been withheld.—Chicago Press & Tribune of Saturday.

The Great North Western Wide Awake Demonstration.

The Wide-Awakes of Chicago invite all the Wide-Awake Clubs of the North-West to this city on the 2d of October, to participate in the grand reception to be given to Hon. William H. Seward. The Clubs accepting the invitation are requested to communicate the fact as nearly as possible to the Reception Committee, consisting of John A. Bross, Geo. I Waterman, Ernst Kloskie, and C. W. Barker, stating the number coming, the date of the organization of their Club, and the time of their arrival.

It is designed to make this a great Wide-Awake occasion. In Philadelphia, the other evening, there was a grand turn out of over seven thousand Wide Awakes, and in New York on Thursday evening, there was a turn out of some ten thousand—all in uniform, and with torches ablaze.

Wide-Awakes of the North-West! show your Eastern brethren than you can turn out just as large a procession in your metropolis as they can in theirs. Will you do it? You can if you try.—Chicago Journal.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM AT MAYVILLE.—We are informed that the meeting at Mayville last Thursday, held by appointment of Judge Larrabee, went off in style somewhat similar to that at Wanpun on the 8th. At the hour for the speaking to commence, there were FOURTEEN democrats in the room. Our Elijah had occasion to go out just then for a glass of beer, and the audience did not hear his speech. Considering that Mayville is a strong democratic section, this fizzle is full of significance, and bears out the assertion of the Dodge County Excelsior, that Larrabee is popular at home!

The Republicans have only to work steadily and earnestly, and it is evident that the victory this fall will be on their side.—Dodge Co. Citizen.

FIRE AT OSHKOSH.—Sunday A. M., about half past nine o'clock, the dwelling house belonging to Mr. M. Sewey, and occupied by Mrs. Moulton as a boarding house, was discovered to be on fire. The kitchen and roof of the building were burned, but the promptness and energy of the fire department and citizens, saved the balance, as well as a good portion of the furniture. A considerable amount of furniture stored in the garret, was destroyed, on which there was no insurance. The insurance on the building was sufficient to cover the loss. We are informed that the loss of Mrs. Moulton was, in some measure, if not wholly, made up by contributions of our citizens.—A noble and praiseworthy act of sympathy. —Oshkosh Paper.

THE FROG TRADE.—The Prairie Farmer says: "Few of our readers, and perhaps fewer of the citizens of the city, are aware of the extent to which the frog trade is carried in Chicago. There are men who during the entire season have made the catching and marketing of frogs a business—some of them earning three and four dollars per day by this labor. Thousands of frogs have been gathered from the marshes and low wet places to gratify the epicures of the Garden City, and we are informed the trade is constantly improving."

A SOUTHERN LINCOLNITE ON HIS TRAVELS.—The Vicksburgh Sun of Thursday last says: When last heard of, the Lincolnite who gave his opinion an airing so freely in our city on Monday, and for so doing was sent adrift on the Mississippi river, after being well tarred, was about twenty miles from here, slowly progressing toward New Orleans, in mid river. A stout cord and a strong limb is the only fit punishment for such incendiaries of evil.

MONETARY.

SATURDAY P. M., September 22, 1860.

We have to note a much less active state of affairs in the money market than prevailed a week ago. The re-action in the produce market has largely diminished the demand for currency, and consequently a large amount has accumulated at the banks. The demand for general business purposes is however considerable, and the banks are by no means idle. Exchange has advanced to ¾ premium on account of the decrease in shipments of produce, and is active at that rate.

NEW YORK MONEY MATTERS.

SATURDAY P. M., Sept. 25, 1860.

The receipts of wheat are again on the increase, reaching 62,432 bushels to-day, and with a steady or rising market will probably be larger next week than any previous one this year. For the present week they are some 250,000 bus less than last week; but this heavy decrease is very readily accounted for in the late decline in prices and unsettled state of the markets at the East and West. The grain along the Mississippi River is just beginning to move actively, and hereafter our receipts from Iowa and Minnesota will be very large. Captain DAVIDSON'S boats are landing from five to fifteen thousand bushels of wheat daily at La Crosse, for this market, besides a large amount of other produce; and the Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad Co. have three boats almost exclusively engaged in carrying grain, running in connection with their road at Prairie du Chien. Their new elevator is now in operation at that place, and they are consequently prepared to recieve and ship grain in bulk from the river to Milwaukee. If desired by shippers the wheat is inspected before going into the elevator and a receipt given for the exact quantity and quality received, the standard of inspection being the same as at Milwaukee. This improvement, while it will insure a larger business for the M. & M. R. R. than it could otherwise control, will also tend in a large measure to foster the increasing traffic between the river towns and our city.

The wheat market to-day was very dull, and closed at a decline of 4c on all descriptions. Shippers did not enter the market this morning with their wonted alacrity, the additional firmness of freights, the probability of larger receipts, and the uncertainty as to the character of the next steamer's advices, now over-due, all tending to involve the course of the market next week in considerable doubt. In order to realise a concession of 10@2c had to be made on the part of sellers at the outset, and after the report of a decline of 12@2c in New York was received, prices receded 2c more, but scarcely any sales were made at the decline, holders preferring to await the result of the steamer's news rather than sell at so much of a depreciation. The transactions reported were very trifling, being less than 20,000 bus in the aggregate, at 88 @91c for No. 1 spring in store; 86@88c for No. 2 do in store; 94@96c for Club and Extra Club, and 91,02 for white winter, the market closing nominally at 88c for No. 1 and 86c for No. 2.

At the close of last week we left the market dull and unsettled at 91@99c for No. 1 spring, having declined 10@12c during the week under the influence of unfavorable advices from Europe. On Monday a still further decline of 2@3c, but the next day the market recovered somewhat, and freights declining 3@4c the upward tendency continued until Thursday, when No. 1 reached 92@98c, with an active shipping and speculative demand. On Friday, although prices were sustained, the market was weak, freights closing firmer, and sales of No. 1 for next week's delivery were freely made at 90c in store. The condition of the market to-day we have already alluded to. Vessels were engaging to-day at 12c for wheat to Buffalo, but without large arrivals there is every probability of an advance next week.

The flour market has been tolerably active at the decline established early in the week, but closes very much unsettled. The sales reported elsewhere, show a range of $4,50@4,65 for fair to good country extras, and $4,75@5,00 for choice and fancy brands. The receipts are 50 ₰ cent larger than last week, and the shipments have varied from 1,400 to 2,000 bbls daily, mostly by the Detroit & Milwaukee and Grand Trunk Railways for Portland and the New England markets.

The arrivals of merchandize during the week have been comparatively large, and our wholesale merchants have had their hands full, many of them being "driven" to an extent that is only paralleled by the busy times of 1856. The receipts of sugar and molasses alone amount to about two hundred and eighty hogsheads and twelve hundred barrels, and of coffee 400 sacks. Groceries of all descriptions are very firm, but the only change in our figures is an advance of ¼c in coarse sugars. Tea is slightly higher, but still within the range of our quotations.

The following tables will show the receipts and shipments of flour and grain for the past week, the sources of supply and points of destination:

LARGE ARRIVALS OF WHEAT AT BUFFALO.

On Wednesday a fleet of fifteen vessels arrived at Buffalo from Wisconsin, having on board over two hundred and thirty-seven thousand bushels of wheat! Of this amount, upwards of two hundred and twenty thousand bushels, were from Milwaukee. The remaining seventeen thousand bushels were shipped at Racine.

In reference to the market the Press & Tribune says:

The wheat market to-day was less active and prices were about 1c lower. There was a fair demand at the opening by shippers to complete cargoes, but throughout the day both shippers and speculators held off in expectation of receiving the news by the Adriatic now nearly due, and an easier and more quiet market was the consequence. The sales amounted to about 100,000 bushels, at 92@95c for Extra Club in store; 90c for Northwestern Club; 87 1-2@89c for No. Spring—
